Mission Statement

The Brandeis University Law Journal aims to provide Brandeis University with the opportunity to contribute to discussions of law and law-related topics with the publication of undergraduate scholarship. We hope to aid in the furtherance of Brandeis University's motto of "truth even unto its innermost parts" through publishing rigorously researched articles and engaging in respectful, thoughtful, and insightful debates. This journal is both a publication and a constant work in progress as we are grounded in an undergraduate academic environment and constantly trying to learn, grow and improve. Our journal provides a platform for intellectual growth and debate where academic scholarship can flourish. We focus on academic excellence, encouraging expressions of scholarship, and encouragement of educational purposes.

SUBMISSIONS

Our journal requires all submissions of articles and abstracts to be:

- 1) Original and of concern to the Brandeis community.
- 2) Related to law and/or using legal reasoning.

We welcome submissions for publication at any time. We highly encourage undergraduate scholarship. We will work with undergraduates interested in learning about legal writing, research, and scholarship to develop these skills.

All those interested in involvement through writing, editing, or administrative roles are welcome.

Please send any questions, submissions, or inquires to deislawjournal@gmail.com and visit our website at <https://brandeislawjournal.wordpress.com>

Editor-in-Chief's Letter

Dear Reader,

The Brandeis University Law Journal is proud to present our most recent issue delving into legal developments. These four rigorously-edited articles showed innovation, passion, and energy from our incredible writers. Through their powerful insight and perspectives, the articles showcase possibilities for the future development of the legal arena. The issue is written, edited, and collected by Brandeis University undergraduates. The articles cover topics from an examination from intellectual property rights for artificial intelligence to an investigation of the Supreme Court justices. An extra special addition this semester is a book review on disability treatment and the morality of law by our insightful faculty advisor Professor Daniel Breen.

As previously, the Brandeis University Law Journal is accessible both in print and on our website at <https://brandeislawjournal.wordpress.com> through an e-publication.

I would like to thank our incredible leadership team, writers, and editors. Their dedication, passion, and creativity are evident throughout this issue and provide the foundation for publication. We would like to give great appreciation to the Allocations Board on Student Union for providing us the necessary funding to print this issue.

Inspired as ever by Judah Marans' foundational example, we continue to grow the journal's success. We look forward to our continued work supported by two phenomenal advisors, Professors Kabrhel and Breen. We really appreciate all of their insight, advice, and support.

Sincerely,
Sophia Reiss
Editor-in-Chief
